

INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

Journal of the Hong Kong College of Radiologists is the official peer-reviewed academic journal of the Hong Kong College of Radiologists. It is a multidisciplinary journal covering research work pertaining to the science and practice of the component specialties of the College. It aims to contribute to the training and academic development of members and fellows, and to support the educational objectives of the College. The Journal publishes various categories of papers, including original articles, reviews, work-in-progress communications, technical notes, pictorial essays, case reports, educational articles, and letters to the editor. Manuscripts will be subject to prompt peer review and early publication is a high priority. The Journal is indexed in EMBASE/Excerpta Medica.

Manuscripts: Manuscripts must be unpublished works that are not under consideration by another publication, and must be written in English and typewritten on 1 side of A4 (297 x 210 mm) paper with 30-mm margins. Double space all text, including references and figure legends. The corresponding author is responsible for ensuring that the article has been approved by all authors. Two complete hard copies of each manuscript, including figures, legends, tables, and references, should be sent together with the signed covering letter, and preferably also a disk of all material, to:

Managing Editor, JHKCR Editorial Office
c/o Scientific Communications Hong Kong Limited
Suite C, 10/F, Wo On Building, 10 Wo On Lane
Central, Hong Kong
E-mail: jhkcr@scientific-com.com

Title Page: The title page should be separate and include the initials and surnames of all authors, title of the manuscript, abbreviated title (not to exceed 45 characters), and the name and address of the institution where the work was performed. The correspondence address should include the full name, postal address, telephone and fax numbers, and e-mail address, if any, of the corresponding author.

Abstract: On a separate sheet, a concise abstract of no more than 250 words should be accompanied by about 5 relevant index terms from Index Medicus. Abbreviations and clinical or laboratory jargon are to be avoided. Abstracts are also required for review articles and case reports. Abstracts should be structured for original articles.

Tables: Tables should be typed double-spaced on separate pages in as simple a form as possible. They should be numbered and concisely titled. Abbreviations should be defined in footnotes.

Illustrations: The number of illustrations should be restricted to the minimum necessary to support the textual material. Two complete sets should be submitted as unmounted, unretouched glossy prints, preferably 12.5 cm x 8.5 cm (3R). Computer printouts will not be accepted. The illustrations should be carefully marked on the reverse with the figure number, top of the illustration, and the principal author's name, using a soft lead pencil or a stick-on label. If illustrations are submitted on disk, they should be in jpg format with a resolution of 350 dpi or higher and in files separate from the manuscript file; 2 hard copies of the illustrations should also be included. Reproduction of colour illustrations will be charged to the author.

Patient identification should be obscured; for patient photographs, patient's written consent is needed. Transfer arrows should be used to indicate subtle but salient points. Drawings, graphs, and charts should be drawn with black ink on white paper and should preferably be the work of a professional illustrator. Arrows and other symbols must be of professional quality and of a size permitting some reduction in the final copy.

Legends: Legends should be typed double-spaced on a separate sheet and should indicate the anatomical area and pathological condition shown. All symbols and abbreviations should be defined in the legend.

References: References should be numbered consecutively in order of appearance in the text. Abstracts should not be cited unless the abstract is the only available reference to an important concept. Each reference citation should be in superscript after full-stops and commas. Do not include as references uncompleted work or work that has not yet been accepted for publication. Abbreviations for periodicals should conform to those used in Index Medicus and include the complete title and names and initials of all authors. The data contained in the references should conform with the following examples:

Periodicals

1. Ngan H, Fok M, Wong J. Role of lymphography in chylothorax following thoracic surgery. Br J Radiol 1988;61:1032-1036.

Books

2. Fan ST, Ngan H, Wong J. Hepatocellular carcinoma. In: Pitt HA, Carr-Locke DL, Ferrucci JT, editors. Hepatobiliary and pancreatic disease: the term approach to management. Boston: Little Brown; 1995:135-148.

Books edited by author

3. Osborn AG. Diagnostic neuroradiology. Chicago: Mosby-Year Book; 1994:284-329.

Please refer to the Uniform requirements for manuscripts submitted to biomedical journals: writing and editing for biomedical publication, available from <<http://www.icmje.org>>, for further information on references and for general guidance on style.

Acknowledgement(s): Acknowledgements should include any research or project support, or any conflicts of interest.

Ethics: The Methods section should state if animal or human studies were approved by a local ethics committee.

Copyright and Disks: On acceptance of an article by the Journal, the corresponding author will be asked to submit the accepted version on a 3.5" floppy disk or CD-ROM (Microsoft Word version 6.0 or above). Zip disks will not be accepted. Authors must transfer copyright of the article to the College.

Editing: Accepted manuscripts will be copy edited according to Journal style. Authors are responsible for all statements made in their work, including changes made by the copy editor.

Proofs and Reprints: The corresponding author will receive page proofs, which should be proofread and returned within 48 hours of receipt. Corrections are limited to publisher's errors — no substantial author's changes will be made without charge. Reprints may be ordered at prices quoted in the order form available at the Editorial Office.